Before the (46) _____ of the postage stamp, it was difficult to send a letter to another country. The sender paid for the letter to travel in his or her private country. Then the person in other country paid for that part of the trip. If the letter passed several countries, the problem was worse.

Rowland Hill, a British teacher, had the (47) _____ of a postage stamp with glue on the back. The British post office made the first stamps in 1840. A person bought a stamp and put it on a letter. The post office (48) _____ the letter. When people received letters, they didn't have to pay anything. The letters were prepaid.

Postage stamps became (49) _____ in Great Britain immediately. Other countries started making their own postage stamps very quickly. There were still problems with international mail. Some countries did not want to accept letters with stamps by another country. Finally, in 1874 a German organized the Universal Postal Union (UPU). Each country in the UPU agree to accept letters with prepaid postage from the other members. And now almost every country in the world is a member of this organization. It takes care (50) _____ any international mail problems.
